EUROPE CANNOT GO ON WITH ARMIES AND STILL EXIST

ECONOMIC PROBLEMS HANG ON ENORMOUS ARMY EXPENDITURES.

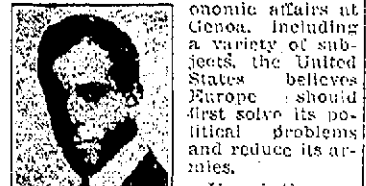

U. S. IN WARNING

Sec. Hoover's Speech Reflects Attitude of Administration on Genoa.

By DAVID LAWRENCE.

Washington.—America's program for world reconstruction has been outlined by the government of Europe. There are signs that Prime Minister Lloyd George, at least, is trying to persuade Premier Poincaré to follow it. Instead of a world conference on economic affairs at Genoa, including a variety of subjects, the United States believes Europe should first solve its political problems and reduce its armaments.

Here is the program which throws new light on the reasons why the Genoa conference was postponed and explains the latest development in Europe where Prime Minister Lloyd George is reported as proposing a ten-year truce whereby land armies shall be reduced and a guarantee given of the political stability of Europe.

First, the United States government wishes to help Europe but cannot entangle herself in Europe's political affairs. Upon political stability depends economic aid from America.

Genoa Two Wide Sweeping Second, the United States government believes the program of the Genoa conference was too wide-sweeping and attempted too much. It believes a limited program having for its object the political stability of Europe would have more chance of success. The Washington conference is pointed out as an example of what can be done when (Continued on page 4)

Shipbuilders Are Indicted by Grand Jury

Washington.—Indictments against Charles W. Morse, New York shipbuilder; his three sons, Benjamin, Harry and Evelyn; C. E. Livingston of Washington, president of the Virginia Shipbuilding corporation, and seven others, were returned Monday by the federal grand jury, with charges including the violation of war-time transactions of Morse and some of his associates with the shipping board.

Others named in the indictments as presented to the district of Columbia grand jury, included: L. A. Christie, Alexandria, Va.; Nehemiah Campbell, New York, and Philip Rhinehart, Baltimore, former government auditor at the Virginia shipbuilding plant.

Two indictments were returned, one charging conspiracy to defraud the government and the other charging to commit an offense against the government.

The conspiracy charged by the government accuses those named of making false statements as to the value of their plant and assets, thereby obtaining loans from the shipping board. They are also charged with having secured money for shipbuilding purposes and having used the same for other purposes, in the way of improving their plants.

Hundreds of Britons Have Hand in Making Articles for Wedding of Princess

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] London.—Several hundred men, women and girls of the United Kingdom are proud of having had some small part in the designing and manufacture of various articles of Princess Mary's trousseau for her wedding Tuesday to Viscount Lascelles.

The trades and crafts they represent range from Irish colleen emblems to gold miners of South Wales. The "pinned" metal from which the wedding ring was made. Many articles of the bride's wedding apparel and traveling attire were tendered as gifts from various clubs and industries. Even the bride's bouquet is to be an evidence of good wishes from admirers—it will be presented by the Gardeners' company, one of the ancient city of London's trade organizations.

Will Wear Old Veil Princess Mary's wedding gown, like those of her eight bridesmaids, will be of white silk ornamented with silver tissue. What form of headpiece, the bridesmaids shall wear has been a subject of much consideration. At former royal weddings, the bridesmaids have worn veils. It has been suggested that those of the princess wear wreaths of flowers or bands of silver tissue. Princess Mary will wear the wedding veil worn successively by Queen Victoria, Queen Alexandra and Queen Mary.

The bride has had a wonderful clock prepared for the wedding day for wear as she drives to and from the Abbey. It is of pure white fur (Continued on page 2)

Mrs. Brady was shot three times in her husband, who then slashed his throat with a safety razor blade and a pen knife. Other guests at the hotel say Brady seemed to be unusually jealous, having been heard to tell his wife for accepting attentions to men.

Mr. Brady is believed to have suffered a nervous breakdown several weeks ago and to have come to Miami to recuperate. Mrs. Brady, a sister of John R. Thompson, wealthy Chicago restaurant owner, also came here for her health.

CROWDS IN COURT

Hundreds in Elkhorn to Hear McBride Sentenced Monday.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Elkhorn.—Expectations of hundreds of people who stormed the Walworth county circuit courthouse Monday morning to see the dramatic conclusion of one of the most brutal murders in Wisconsin's history, with the sentencing to life imprisonment of Fred McBride, 24 year old Akron, O. youth and former East Troy farmhand, were dashed when a postponement due to the illness of Judge E. B. Belden, Rochester, was announced.

Judge Belden was taken seriously ill Sunday night and will be unable to hear the case until Wednesday at the earliest. It was announced at 3 a. m. that the case was to have been called. The judge is suffering from either pneumonia poisoning or appendicitis, physicians are reported as having announced.

The crowd, many of whom had left East Troy, Palmyra, and other sections of Walworth and Jefferson counties, were interested in the murder of Edward Thielen and the murderer, Fred McBride, is at a high pitch, and who had left home at dawn to arrive in time to witness the meeting out of the supreme punishment, were disappointed. The audience were members of the murdered youth's family, all of whom knew McBride as the elum of Edward Thielen, a farmer from the vicinity of the Genoa, Wis. farm where both boys worked for nine months and, were constantly seen together, where the slayer had established himself as an industrious hard worker and won the hand of Miss Thielen's daughter, present to see and hear McBride again confess his guilt and be punished.

McBride Pleads Guilt After undergoing a grilling at Watertown, Wis. District Attorney Johnson and Ray C. Twining, Saturday, McBride was taken to White, Wis., where he was given a preliminary hearing before Justice Charles W. Belden. He was bound over to the Walworth county circuit court for sentence. In Walworth county, the powers of the county judge are restricted to a maximum of 10 years for a murder case.

Awaiting his fate, and with an impatience to have it all over with, McBride is the center of interest of Elkhorn and Walworth courts. Many relatives in this section of the country and having lost the friendship of those he made as a farm hand, he is anxious to go to Waupun, for life.

McBride Alone in World McBride has been estranged from his father since his mother died when he was seven years old, and he was brought up by his uncle. He was born at Portland, Ind., moved to Akron several years ago and came to Wisconsin in 1920. He has a brother at Columbus, O.

Starves Family in Religious Frenzy; Is Sent to Asylum

Bloomington, Ill.—Robert A. Schlosser, was committed Monday to the state hospital at Kane, Kan., for treatment, following the finding of Schlosser, his wife and three children in a starving condition in their deserted home.

Obeying what he declared to be the voice of the Lord ordering him to cast out all modern comforts, he had stripped the house bare of stoves and stoves, even tearing out the plumbing and electric fixtures. The entire family obeyed a further behest to abstain from food.

The children were placed under a physician's care, the condition of one being precarious due to the long fasting. In the hospital ward of the county jail, Mrs. Schlosser finally consented to take nourishment. A commission conducted an inquiry into the mentality of Schlosser and he was sent to the state hospital for treatment.

State Loses Rail Case in Supreme Court

Washington.—Railroad passenger fares within a state are subject to regulation by the federal government, the supreme court Monday declared.

The court sustained the lower court, which prohibited the Wisconsin railroad commission from interfering with the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad in putting into effect increases in passenger fares in state travel authorized by the Interstate Commerce commission.

The opinion of the court was delivered by Justice Brandeis.

TRANSPORTATION ACT CHANGE ONLY CHANGE

Madison.—The only Wisconsin law which gives the state a right to regulate fares within the state, now definitely lodged with the federal government as a result of the decision of the United States supreme court, is through change in the transportation act. Mr. E. O'Brien, special counsel for the state, who twice argued the case before the court declared.

Representatives of Wisconsin in congress will probably be appealed to, he said, to support passage of a bill already introduced to take the power over passenger fares in state travel away from the Interstate Commerce commission, and again place it with railroad commissions.

Wireless May Be Cause of "SPOOKS" IN NOVA SCOTIA

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Halifax, N. S.—The proximity of radio stations is the latest explanation of the "spooks" which have been driving a local family and family from home and baffled investigators.

Fire underwriters are discussing the mysterious fires which have been due to electric phenomena caused by the powerful wireless station at Glace Bay. Several other families in Antigonish county are now reported to have been driven from their homes by mysterious fires during the last 40 years.

Driver Still Sitting at Steering Wheel—Aged Father Views Scene.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Delaware.—Trapped in a closed car, James Roach, 38, and Thomas Bartlett, 44, of Harvard, Ill., were drowned in Delaware lake Sunday when the ice on the lake gave away with the weight of the car. The accident occurred here at 10:30 a. m. Sunday within 30 rods of the shore near the assembly grounds, and was witnessed by hundreds of persons.

Roach and Bartlett, both married men, had started from Harvard Sunday morning with their fishing outfit for Delaware lake, with Mr. Roach's father, in a car with side curtains, owned and driven by Roach. A brother-in-law of Mrs. Mortimer Shanahan, Delawarean, was also in the car.

Warnings Unheeded Coming to the assembly grounds, Roach and Bartlett started out in the car across the ice, despite the warnings of persons who were skating there. As they reached the channel in the lake, the protestations of the bystanders grew and the men got out of the car, looked at the ice, got back and red, to their death a moment later when the ice gave in and the water enveloped the car and its occupants. Roach, 34, a year old father, who was on the ice but not in the car, was witness of the tragedy. He grew hysterical when the men disappeared as if swallowed up. They did not come to the surface.

YOU TELL 'EM

Reporters ask a daily question of five persons. Here's what they say:

TODAY'S QUESTION:—What form of capital punishment do you think is the most meritorious?

Frank M. Britt, 612 Lincoln street—“I don't like the idea of the guillotine method used in France—there are lots of better ways than that to get rid of 'em. I should think this sleeping gas that they're trying out in Nevada would be the easiest way to die.”

Miss Leona Ludwick, 225 Jackson street—“I'm against all forms of capital punishment and am proud to live in a state that does not have it.”

Miss Catherine Fox, 1303 Pleasant street—“I do not approve of capital punishment—but if I were called upon enough to be in a position where I had to choose my manner of death, I'd take the electric chair.”

L. E. Bennett, Supt. H. W. Conard Co.—“I should think the kind that paralyzes the nerve centers first would be the most merciful—I don't know which kind that is, though.”

“None is very meritorious, but I think the electric chair is very prompt, and a person to die before he realizes it. The electric chair is more humane.”

at the wheel of the car. Bartlett, apparently had attempted, to assume, as his body was found by William Davis about five feet from the car, at 3 p. m.

The bodies were taken back to Harvard by an undertaker from that city late Sunday.

Local authorities communicated with District Attorney Johnson at Whitewater, who said an inquest would not be necessary as many witnesses saw the men go out on the ice.

At the place where the car went down, in 12 feet of water, a channel runs and it is known as a dangerous spot. Only a thin layer of ice covered it.

Bartlett recently moved from Woodstock to Harvard. He leaves his wife and four children.

Roch leaves his parents, his wife and two sons, 6 and 12 years old.

PREACHER'S CAR IN MANY HIGH JINKS

Narrow Escape of Occupants When Steering Gear Quits the Job.

Losing control when the steering gear broke, Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith, pastor of the Beloit Christian church, had a narrow escape from serious injury and Miss Sorenson, his wife, escaped with her life. The car, a 1921 Ford, was driven by Smith and his wife, L. Z. Smith, father of Mr. Smith, was slightly injured when the Ford car in which they were riding zig-zagged for 23 feet down Court street at the bridge, plunged into and climbed up the side of a truck and came to a halt on its left side. The accident occurred at about 7 p. m. Saturday and was witnessed by a large Saturday night crowd.

Mr. Smith was driving Miss Sorenson and his father, to Beloit where he was to preach, and Miss Sorenson was to sing. Mr. Smith said that he did not realize anything was wrong until the car madly careened into the truck despite anything he could do. Spectators said the radius bar dropped bridge, the car was driving at moderate speed, he said. The car went diagonally across the street to the right for 20 feet, struck the rear end of the truck, started to climb in then, fell back and over on its side. None of the occupants was thrown from the car.

Miss Sorenson was the most seriously injured. She was lying in the front seat with Mr. Smith and sustained a deep laceration in the forehead from the broken glass and was bruised about the body. Mr. Smith, who sustained bruises, said the truck hadn't been there. I think we would have gone in the river,” Rev. Mr. Smith said.

The trip to Beloit was postponed.

SMITH PREACHES FAREWELL SERMON AT FOOTVILLE

Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith, for the past two years pastor of the Footville Church of Christ, preached his last sermon in that capacity on Sunday. He will be to Beloit this week where he will be located as pastor of the newly organized Church of Christ there. Mr. Smith preached a regular gospel sermon, refusing to preach what is known as a “farewell sermon.” He spoke on “Carry On Carry On!” Large crowds attended both morning and evening.

The combined membership of the Church of Christ in Rock county has more than tripled in the past year, there now being 775 members, where a year ago there were but 240. Three churches are now organized instead of two.

A reception in Mr. Smith's honor will be held at Beloit Monday night when farewell to the organizer of the Beloit church, Evangelist S. J. Baum, will also be made.

Rev. Eldred Charles, Caro, Mich., the new pastor, will preach his first sermon at Footville on March 12. Laymen will have charge of the services until that time.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS IN POLITICS TOO MUCH

Scathing Report on Multiplicity of Boards and Commissions.

Chicago, Ill.—Attack on decentralized boards of education as a means of administering state school systems was made today by C. P. Curry, for 13 years superintendent of public instruction in Wisconsin, reporting to the national council of education in session here. Mr. Curry, who is chairman of the committee on state school administration, recommended that this work be placed in the hands of one department headed by an official chosen by an elective board.

He expressed the opinion that the creation of the board of vocational education and the state board of education in Wisconsin "has set back the cause of education in this state at least 25 years. This jeremiad," he said, "was primarily the work of politicians who wanted to get control, but could not understand the order and of certain manufacturers who wanted the use of the schools to secure an abundance of cheap labor, partly trained at state expense."

Asserting that "there is developing a tendency for various industrial, political, social and religious organizations to try to control or to hamper public education," Mr. Curry declared that "the cause of a public school is entering upon an era of contention and discord such as has never before been witnessed in this country."

Want to Control Education. "Those who have not sensed this are not of the observing type," he said. "Labor unions, nonpartisan leagues, manufacturers, socialists and others are all vying for the end of the list are coming to be of the opinion that they could progress much faster if they could control the instruction of the young."

Others have already begun to spend money to that end and it would appear, and the cry is going up to the effect that these elements in the population must be represented on educational boards.

"The schools are challenged from every quarter, both friends and enemies. The public seems now unwilling to support public education in the whole-hearted financial way that it will have to be supported if it is to command itself to the intelligent public in the future."

"Probably the best case of state education and administration is a unitary single state board of education composed of members elected by the people, without reference to any political party or any social industrial or occupational classification."

Right for Control. "One rock on which the system is liable to wreck is that of trying to secure 'harmony' by getting every element represented. When this element will be forgotten and an endless grand scrap as to who shall control will go on."

The chief school officer should be selected by the board and he should be a man of wisdom, courage, and leadership. He should be allowed to nominate his own helpers, and he should have money enough to do a considerable number of the jobs to be found in the country.

"A board is at best a bad thing, for it is sure to be mediocre in its action, no matter if it includes members who are able. When this is a 'consensus of opinion' and this is not wisdom, but compromise and adjustment of opinion."

"The chief educational officer selected by such a board may vary from a jack-in-the-box type of secretary to a high-class, high-minded gentleman worthy to be commissioner of education in a great state."

"There is a general desire among thoughtful friends of public schools to put education on a basis of organization and finance commensurate with its importance to the state; but this can only be done by creating in all states some such department as has just been indicated."

POLICE AND PRESS FLEE; SCIENCE WILL BEARD WILD SPOOK

Haitian, N. S.—A party of inquisitive scientists now threaten to break in upon the quiet of the Antigonish ghost whose fame grows with each new thrill it causes.

The exclusive verities of a small group of distinguished men, it plans being discussed today are carried out. Dr. Walter Franklin Prince, director of American Museum of Natural History, New York, has debarred his intention of calling at the haunted house. If he can arrange to obtain a leave of absence from his duties, he will go to be quite an international affair since first heard of a few weeks ago. The haunted house is the home of Alexander MacDonald, a little Canadian miller in a little uninhabited valley deep in the mountains and woods. Mr. MacDonald, his wife and their adopted daughter fled, the place in terror in the dead of winter with weird tales of ghostly cattle-tampering and a series of inexplicable fires.

The tale obtained wide credence and the provincial police sent a detective to investigate. He was accompanied by a newspaperman, the two taking up their residence in the MacDonald house for three nights, fleeing it finally with an eerie tale of being slugged in the back by hands that didn't seem to be attached to anything in particular.

Now comes the call for scientific investigation.

The field of discussion is narrowed and the problems are confined to a small group of powers, namely, the United States, Germany, France and Italy. The United States government feels it has done its share in the limitation of naval armaments and guaranteeing the peace of the Pacific. Now let Europe tackle land armaments and the political apprehensions that exist between France and Germany or England and France or Italy and France as the case may be.

The words of Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, the man on whose vision and knowledge President Harding strongly relies in connection of what is going on inside the administration here.

Hoover Effects Sentiment
His views have been reflected in the communications sent abroad. Mr. Hoover wrote the day ago an editorial, the significance of which was not reported in the press. Mr. Hoover said:

"The well-being of the continent is at stake. We have a desire to help. But before our strength can be employed toward economic stability, a foundation of political stability must first be obtained."

"Economic stability can not be created in an atmosphere of alarms and threats of political actions and its possibilities of woman. The strength has not yet been built of armaments."

"The Washington conference has eliminated the malign political forces between the great group of nations which we were divided by the 1918-1919 war. It is a limitation of arms in this group. It must be our wish that other great groups of nations where we have less direct interest should imitate the same process. We have no problem of land armaments. These political difficulties in Europe which breed armaments with its ruin of economic progress, arise from causes in which we do not participate."

"They do not affect us in their results. We find ourselves much torn between an earnest wish to do service and a practical desire to keep ourselves free from matters to which we are not a party and which we cannot remedy. Participation in which would nevertheless undermine our ability to render real service in the future. The Washington conference found some solution to excessive naval armament and the political causes that gave rise to it."

Hor. Annals
"All America hopes that the conference of Europe can enter upon these steps which will lead to a reduction of her land armament and thus lay the foundation upon which economic reconstruction can be safely built."

"There must be a great recall to reason or Europe may go down through economic degeneration. Such a recall might prove to be comparable in good with the Washington conference in its contribution to political stability and its effect upon economic progress."

Spain on Which to Build
"The limitation of land armament and the mitigation of malign forces in Europe would indeed be a companion pier to the accomplishment of naval limitation at the Washington conference. I believe that America, out of her own interest would join her economic strength to build the span on these firm piers so that this foundation there is little for America to build upon; with this foundation America will not fail to do her part."

Mr. Hoover's views carry added weight since it was announced that he would be a member of President Harding's commission to find the allied war debt. There is every reason to believe that Great Britain is in thorough accord with the policy of the United States and is endeavoring to persuade France to join in a conference which shall assure Europe against military aggression by any of its component parts. Some time ago a proposal was made that France, Belgium, Great Britain, and Italy should sign a four-power pact similar to that signed at Washington but guaranteeing that all nations should come to the aid of the other in case of unprovoked aggression. It was suggested also that Germany herself be included in the treaty so that she would be pledged against undertaking offensive measures.

No Solution by League
The argument is being made in British quarters that such a treaty would be wholly in line with the efforts of the league of nations to promote peace and would at the same time constitute a regional understanding supplementary to the league of nations. While the league is trying to solve the question of land armament, a direct agreement between the nations having the largest armies would in the view of officials here be a quicker way to achieve results.

Prime Minister Lloyd George knows that unless Europe gives evidence either through the league of nations or four-power pact of a genuine intent to put its own house in order, America must remain indifferent to the pleas of Europe for economic aid. Until Europe ceases

BRIEFS BY WIRE

Oklahoma City, Okla.—Governor Robertson, in a letter to Superior Court Judge H. R. Christopher, declined to accept the latter's resignation.

Chicago—Increased prices for grain and livestock have brought encouragement to farmers in the seventh spending money for the maintenance of armies. America doesn't see why any assistance should be given her former allies in the matter of refunding the allied war debt. The key to the situation today, therefore, is the secret conference between Prime Minister Lloyd George and Premier Poincare.

RICH SUITOR SOLVES PROBLEM OF GIRL FACING LOSS OF FORTUNE IF SHE WED

Mrs. Raymond L. Goding, nee Miss Eleanor Berlin.

When a former sweetheart of Miss Eleanor Berlin of Worcester, Mass., died he left her a trust fund of $50,000, on condition that she live with his mother and never marry. She faced the prospect of losing the fortune should Cupid ever enter her life. Cupid entered and solved the girl's dilemma by choosing a rich Worcester real estate broker, for whom Miss Berlin worked as a stenographer, for her second love venture. They were married recently. Goding's wealth relieves Miss Berlin of any anxiety concerning the loss of the other.

London—Philip Scheidemann, former German chancellor, left a letter placed responsibility for the war exclusively on German shoulders.

An 11-inning tie practice game featured the first workout of the St. Louis Americans.

CLOSE CHECK HERE ON NEW CITIZENS

Aliens in Rock County Must Be Well Informed to Be Admitted.

Citizenship regulations connected with the granting of second papers are enforced to the limit in Southern Wisconsin, according to Rock county court authorities. Recent press articles showing the evils practiced in some cities and districts, where aliens are admitted without adequate tests, in blocks of hundreds, resulted in an inquiry regarding naturalization methods in the circuit courts of Southern Wisconsin.

Citizenship hearings here are made more than a formality to be rushed through and a serious attempt is made to impress the aliens with their obligations and duties.

Applicants are questioned closely by both the court and the government examiner, both of whom must be satisfied. The court magistrate in only a few cases over-ruled the objections of the naturalization examiner.

Applicants Questioned
Attending the hearings before Judge George Grimm brings out the fact that the alien who has not studied or does not show an earnest disposition to learn American laws, methods of government and obtain some American education, has no show for second papers. The applicants are asked a variety of questions. If they appear to know the correct answers and demonstrate a general knowledge, they are only given a short examination. But if they make errors or attempt to "bluff," their cases are generally continued with directions to attend night schools. It is significant that many aliens appear at the hearings proudly exhibiting a diploma. And these aliens can pass tests that would trouble any graduate from a high school for they often are not only required to explain the methods of city, state and national government but to name the men holding the offices.

Many Have Diplomas
Especially good results are noticeable from aliens who attended the night school.

The government agents have a close tab on nearly every citizenship applicant. They nearly always know beforehand the record of the alien during the war and the aliens invariably are questioned regarding their activities during the period of hostilities and a check made.

The lack of proper education of aliens from some districts is noticeable in the citizenship hearings in the court here. Court officials regret the failure of methods to encourage more aliens to attend school to be taught by competent teachers.

Favors Registration
Under a new ruling by the government any alien who surrendered his first papers during the war so as to escape military service is forever barred from obtaining citizenship. The alien who did not surrender his first papers but who may have claimed exemption from combat service because of his foreign birth must wait until after a five year period during which his record is subject to investigation. Previous to the modern regulation any alien refusing to serve was barred whether he surrendered first papers or not.

"It has been my observation that the court and the naturalization agents require full observation of the citizenship laws," declared Joseph Earle, clerk of the circuit court. "The alien must show proper legal entrance into the United States and the only trouble we have had on obtaining the certificates of arrival is from seamen who deserted or aliens coming into the United States from Canada. Whenever there is any doubt about an applicant he is always registered closely. I do believe that the aliens should be required to register. It is a good thing to know who is in the country and where they are."

FOUR MUST DIE IN ELECTRIC CHAIR

Asheville, Tenn.—Strenuous efforts by friends to stay the execution of four men condemned to die in the electric chair here next Wednesday, have failed to change the attitude of Governor Taylor, who said he has made up his mind to let the law take its course. Charles Petre, Otto Stevens, Tom Christie and John McClure, the condemned men, were convicted in Clinton, Tenn., last July, for the murder of George Lewis, Knoxville taxicab driver.

Careless Shampooing Spoils the Hair

Soap should be used very carefully. If you want to keep your hair looking its best, most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it. It leaves the scalp sore, and the hair thin and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulifed in a cup of glass with a little warm water is sufficient to cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soothed, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

A typical old time school girl. The Misses Marie Dubson and Bessie Billings as the "twins" were a success, with their hair in long curls. Miss Frances Brown's costume was also worthy of mention and Mrs. Mary Curry, who acted as teacher, was truly a success. She wore her hair in short curls on each side of her head—her dress, Demi-train, as was the custom years ago—and she certainly the proper one in the right place. Each one acted well their part and it was an evening of fun and merriment. Nearly all carried "dinner pails" and after the noon hour an exhibition was given after which the school was dismissed. Then Rev. Gerald Smith and Mrs. Gooch chose sides and there was a spelling match. Miss Grace Berger being the winner in the contest and Miss Mary Butts the last to go down. A number, however, went down, not mentioning the "Capital" in proper names. Miss Nellie Johnson conducted the spelling after the refreshments were served. Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Gemilar entertained at dinner Friday and had as guests Mr. and Mrs. Nels Kirgin and Mr. and Mrs. Gooch. The condition of Mrs. J. M. Silverthorn remains about the same. Mrs. Harry Walton is troubled with rheumatism. Mr. and Mrs. Gemilar and daughter, Miss Kathryn, spent Thursday at the Stauffer home near Orfordville. Mrs. Stauffer is a sister of Mrs. Gemilar.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause morning sickness, constipation, waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, yellow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headache, a listless, no-popped feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the result. Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep them fit. 15c and 30c.

The medicine is injected directly into the blood stream, and frequently patients are cured without the giving of a single dose of medicine via the stomach, without pain or danger.

Stomach Diseases

Should never be neglected. So many cases of stomach trouble are cured without the giving of a single dose of medicine via the stomach, without pain or danger.

A Huge Market Place Teeming With Bargains

If all the merchandise and all the traders represented by Gazette Classified Ads today were assembled in one spot—hundreds of acres would be required for so stupendous a market place.

The Used Cars alone would occupy an enormous area, a great section would be reserved for the pianos, household furniture, and other sections for horses, dogs, chickens and countless other things.

Think of the enormous cash value of this great collection of property changing hands through Gazette Classified Ads. Surely, the Gazette classified advertising pages represent a trading space almost impossible to estimate.

LATEST NEWS AND CLOSING MARKETS

Weekly Livestock Review

Chicago—Stocks sold on fairly active, but exceedingly uneven markets most of the week. Better grades were scarce and nothing combining quality and price was offered. A good demand from the stocker and feeder interest and a moderate to strong demand from local packers and eastern order buyers for moderate priced killing steers caused an improvement on lower grades, which were plentifully available at times, but almost lacking at the close. Generally the close was a little better than the week's ending, but some medium and lower grade steers at times sold 25¢ higher this week.

Butcher stock was quoted steady all week, with a few grades improved and prices gradually strengthened on most grades. Before the close, however, the market was a little better than the week's ending, but some medium and lower grade steers at times sold 25¢ higher this week.
